

Human trafficking involves the recruitment or movement of people for exploitation by the use of threat, force, fraud, or the abuse of vulnerability.

Trafficking is a crime that can occur not only across international borders but also within the UK and involve UK British nationals.

Men, women and children may be trafficked for various purposes.

Sexual Exploitation – mostly girls and women recruited for sex trafficking

Child Exploitation – Children used for trafficking (labour work, sex trafficking, criminal activity such as selling drugs

Criminal Exploitation – Individuals forced to commit criminal activity such as drug trafficking, benefit fraud or begging.